Message from the principal...

Dear Schriever Elementary Families,

We have almost made it halfway through the first nine weeks! "Schriever Elementary School, in partnership with parents and community, is committed to ensuring all students learn by educating the whole child academically and socially. Through inquiry and discussion, students will discover new ways of thinking with an aligned essential curriculum while advancing to the next educational level on the path to college and career readiness." It is important to have a clear vision for what we as a school community want to accomplish. How can parents/guardians help strengthen our vision? This can be done by checking your child's blue homework folder daily, reviewing daily conduct and weekly newsletters, and helping with homework. Each month the calendar will include activities to spark discussion and encourage inquiry to build communication skills. Please try to complete as many of the activities as possible with your child. Again, thanks for your continued support in keeping the home-school line of communication open.

A few dates to remember:

- ✓ September 7th - Progress Reports available in SPC
- ✓ September 17th-23rd - Freedom Week

Educationally Yours,
Miranda Babin, Principal

Each and every student at Schriever Elementary will strive for success in academics and behavior.

Note from the assistant principal...

As a parent, it can be frustrating when your child acts up at school. Managing classroom behavior is most effective when there is a collaborative effort between school and home to address issues as they arise. Your child's behavior problems may be preventing him/her from working on the skills needed to become responsible, confident, and independent. Parents can help by speaking with their child's teacher to fully understand their concerns and by committing to assist with behavior concerns.

Natalie Fonseca
Assistant Principal

PBIS Family Support

Playground Expectations: Recess is a time to exert energy and socialize with friends. Many children do not know how to handle social situations that involve holding a conversation, giving compliments, listening, or playing games with peers. Parents can help develop these skills at home by modeling and practicing to help your child develop the ability to interact appropriately in different types of social settings.
